DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 11 and 12 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over US 6,627,377 (Itatani et al) as per reasons of record.
4. Claims 1, 3, 5-12 and 16 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over US 5,340,684 (Hayase et al) as per reasons of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 1, 3-10 and 13-16 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,627,377 (Itatani et al) in view of U.S. 5,340,684 (Hayase et al), both described hereinabove as per reasons of record.

6. Claims 4 and 13-15 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 5,340,684 (Hayase et al) described hereinabove in view of U.S. US 6,627,377 (Itatani et al) described hereinabove and U.S. 5,502,143 (Oie et al) as per reasons of record.

Response to Amendment

7. Applicant's amendments and arguments filed August 07, 2008 have been fully considered.

Applicants' argument that Itatani et al do not teach the introduction into the main chain of the polyimide a specific diamine having a phenolic hydroxyl group is not commensurate in scope with claims 11 and 12 in that said claims do not require a diamine having a phenolic hydroxyl group. In any event, Itatani et al use a diamine having a phenolic hydroxyl group and, as such, would be expected to generate a polyimide having said diamine moiety in the main chain. As to the synthesis solvent, it is noted that no objective evidence has been provided showing that the product of the present product-by-process claims 1, 3-10 and 16 is not the same as or obvious from the product set forth by Itatani et al. Even so, it is maintained that it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have substituted the synthesis solvents recited in the presently claimed product-by-process claims and process claim 13 for those exemplified by Itatani et al with the reasonable expectation of success given their well known equivalency in the art, as per Hayase et al. As to process claim 14, the same synthesis solvents are disclosed by Itatani et al.

As to Hayase et al, their polyimides can be synthesized in the presence of the same solvents recited in the present claims (column 10, lines 48-55). Accordingly, there is no issue with respect to the type of synthesis solvent used.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
